

Advanced Art Semester Test

For your 1st Semester Test – in place of an actual “semester test” complete these blog pieces.

1.) Update your blog:

If you haven't yet, add photos on your blog of your artwork from 2nd quarter. Be sure to add a caption explaining the media / materials you used and process.

2.) Artist Reflection – Blog Post: Reflection is important in the growth of any artist to understand where you have come to where you would like to go.

- Write a min. of 8 sentences discussing your growth throughout the semester.
  - Include what you learned – specifics as well as overall through the semester, what your favorite units / projects have been, and least favorite units/projects. What materials did you like to work with and perhaps what would you like to work with 2nd semester?

3.) Network and view others artwork / Comment on others blogs:

It is equally important to view art from other students, cultures, and past artists to understand and appreciate art happening around you.

- Profile an artist / culture - What do you find fascinating in regards to another artist or culture? Write a brief summary in regards to your choice and include a link of examples or examples. (4-6 sentences)
- Check out your fellow classmates blogs and post comments on at least 2 other students' blogs. Make these positive comments or constructive ideas about art he or she has created.

4.) Share your blog:

During semester test time you will be responsible for sharing your updated blog with the class as well as sharing 2 highlights from other student blogs. Be ready to share at the beginning of your scheduled semester test time. COME PREPARED!

** For a PDF listing of all high school student blogs click on the High School Student Blogs Link on the left side of the art wiki:
vmsecondaryartdepartment.wikispaces.com